".....a profound program that touches the lives of youth, its community, and it works."

Dear Renee Eckerly,

Last year the Trail Guards was fortunate enough to gain awareness from the Gala, thrown by the Community Foundation. We were also selected to participate in a study conducted by a graduate program at UMD which evaluated our structure and goals, to see if we are accomplishing what our goal and mission are. Proudly, the results were quite positive.

One of the students who evaluated the majority of the data wrote the following in a letter:

We all have a chance to be part of something bigger. There is not much that holds truer to this than being part of the Crow River Trail Guards. The more I learned about the Trail Guards through the evaluation, the more I believed in the value of the program. To the point that when the project wasn't completed by the end of the semester, I volunteered to stay involved to see the evaluation through, pouring myself into the world of the Trail Guards. I am honored to share their stories and provide evidence to the effectiveness of the program and what it brings to the community of Paynesville.

The data I reviewed for the evaluation was from focus group interviews, and open ended questionnaires directed to: community members, participants, their parents, as well as past participants. After we had gathered the information, I analyzed the data to find what outcomes were being achieved as a result of participation in the Trail Guards. The results were impressive. Participation contributed to the following outcomes in its youth participants:

- * environmental awareness, sensitivity and connectedness*
- * place attachment*
- * procedural knowledge in park/trail stewardship*
- * self-awareness of personal skills and strengths*
- * increase in participants self-worth and self esteem*
- * personal and social self-efficacy*
- * sense of belonging and acceptance*
- * team work and cooperation*
- * problem solving*
- * sense of community and civic responsibilities*

After discovering that the Trail Guards was achieving these outcomes, I reflected on how remarkable it is that this program started with the basic idea – connecting kids with the outdoors, by cleaning and protecting the nature trail. This program is molded to the needs of its youth participants and finds success as a result.

For participants, this program has meant new experiences – maintaining a park, meeting new people, learning new skills, working to achieve goals, bike and canoe trips as well as having an opportunity to travel to a foreign country.

For their parents, it has meant observing their children finding a love for the outdoors and seeing them become more outgoing and developing a sense of self-confidence.

For community members, it has meant witnessing examples of the positive impact the program has on these young kids, as well as watching the beautification of what used to be a run down, over grown park which the community can enjoy again.

This program is truly a treasure to the community of Paynesville. Not only does it benefit the youth participants, it also benefits the entire community. Through the evaluation, I saw the impact on the kids, and the significance that the nature park has for its community through its use for graduation photos, walking dogs, and community events.

As an evaluator, I learned from participants, their parents, and community members, what Trail Guards truly means to the people it reaches. I learned that what started as a simple thought to get a project done, can be built up to what it is today; a profound program that touches the lives of its participants and its community, and it works!

I feel honored to have been a small part of something much, much bigger.

Jessamy Schwartz

Master of Environmental Education Candidate - UMD

As you can see, Trail Guards is indeed successful in accomplishing its desired outcomes for the young participants, as well as providing a treasured natural recreation area for our community. Whether you are a longtime supporter, are just learning of our program, or fall somewhere in-between, please send a donation so we can continue the good work with the kids—as well as the community.

Your contributions are honestly and deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,

Crow River Trail Guards Board

From a 2011 Paynesville Press Trail Guard Column:

There is one thing that has become so routine no one really notices except me. It's something that sets the stage for a successful morning, and means much more than it might appear. I'm referring to the initial morning greeting.

I'm not talking about our "opening circle," a time for officially getting things started in an orderly fashion. That's when we talk about our rules, lay out the morning plans, make announcements, and give each child a voice and identity as they introduce themselves and answer the "question of the day."

This is before all that. For years I've made a special point of greeting each and every person who shows up--moving around the tables and through the group, waiting for that moment between the chatter, making direct eye contact, greeting each by name, and making at least one positive comment or asking at least one question certain to bring a positive response.

It's not about a generic "hello." It's about honoring each and every child and adult who comes to us. It's not about praising them for some great achievement or being full of energy and vigor, for scoring the winning run in softball, or for doing or being anything special at all. It's about acknowledging each one of them unconditionally as a living, breathing individual who comes to us with their own joys, trials, accomplishments, fears, challenges, and secrets that are no less important than our own. JUL - 1 2013

Dear Ms. Eckerly and members of the Paynesville City Council,

Your partnership and support is beyond important to us. It's essential. As you know, the Initiative Foundation directs all of its resources to stimulate business growth, quality jobs, and a climate for economic success in Central Minnesota. We see many positive signs in the regional economy, and we believe that 2014 will be a prime year for business start-up, expansion and hiring.

In pursuit of those goals, we are maintaining a laser-sharp focus in our community investments:

- Proactive efforts that engage leaders to solve problems and capitalize on opportunities
- Smart programs that help nonprofits achieve financial stability and greater effectiveness
- Well-timed loans that help companies expand operations and add living-wage jobs
- Targeted grants that support quality of life amenities and workforce development

Next year, we will invest more than $3.5 million in local efforts that benefit hometowns across the region. The City of Paynesville has made significant financial investments to the Foundation since 1997, and we are again asking for your continued support.

We respectfully request a renewal of your annual contribution by allocating $100.00 to the Initiative Foundation in your 2014 budget.

As you know, the Initiative Foundation is a sound financial investment with a measurable ROI. For every local dollar contributed, the Foundation has returned $8.67 back to Stearns County in grants, business loans and scholarships. See the enclosed fact sheet for examples of local impact.

After your budget is finalized, could you please return the tear-off card below in the enclosed envelope? Again, thank you for your continued support of our work in the City of Paynesville and throughout Central Minnesota. Please contact us anytime with questions or to request a staff presentation.

Sincerely,
